

Roses are red and violets are blue and the hearts on this newsletter are all for you. We will start 2006 with our luncheon at Carrie Cerino's 8922 Ridge road, 440-237-3434 on Wednesday, February 1st. Shirley and Tom Harbietner will be there to greet us. The meeting will start at 1:00 and let's see who is the last one to come in. Carrie Cerino's has a full lunch menu. When I do not get the fisherman's platter I order the Frank Sinatra chicken.

Our Christmas party started with a little waiting. Our waitress had to do the setting up by herself. Dorothy and I met Helen George and Walter Turske when we walked into the Red Lobster. Walter had been the perfect gentleman and had picked up Helen George who had car problems. Marge and John Wengrin were next and the first thing John said is that he beat Angelo to the meeting. Mary and Peter Farage liked the Santa and the Santa's helpers and the rest of the table decorations. Millie and Tony picked the lucky seat and won the Christmas candle that was donated by my daughter.

Olga Smeal changed seats so that the late comers, Mary and Angelo Skoulis, could sit together and then we all concentrated on the menu. Helen Andrus and I ordered the Fisherman's platter and Dorothy had her favorite chicken fingers. Shirley and Tom Harbietner had no problem with their pick. The food was tasty, service super and you could not beat the company.

We did hear from our brothers in Florida. Ted Kostuk and Peter Arden wished us all a happy holiday. I did stop and wish Joe and Ann Verbinisky and George and Jean Kulevich a Merry Christmas from us all. We of the "Greatest Generation" have a lot to be thankful for. See you all on the first of February.

Sincerely Yours:
